Come join us for a driving tour that takes you past legendary haunted sites in Crisfield, Maryland – formerly known as the “seafood capital of the world.” This historic, waterman’s town is home to many stories of ghosts and haunted places. Mindie Burgoyne – author of Haunted Eastern Shore: Ghostly Tales from East of the Chesapeake will give a short talk and presentation at the Tawes Library, then escort guests on a bus tour that will carry them through the City of Crisfield and its outskirts, driving past many of the places mentioned in the presentation. From the bus, she will recount some of the scariest stories on the Eastern Shore. Sites will include the Ananias Crockett House, McCready Hospital, Corbin Library and the Ira Todd House. Tour will also include commentary from two Crisfielders who will recount their own experiences with haunted houses and sites. Advanced registration is required and seating is limited.
